Bobi Terms of Use

Effective date: November 4, 2026

1. About Bobi

Bobi is an island-travel community for profiles, posts, photos, videos, comments, travel crews, follows, private mutual-follow chat, travel notes and an optional AI Island Guide. Bobi does not sell travel bookings or verify the safety of travelers, hosts or destinations. The video-call screen currently provides a local preview only; it does not connect a remote call.

2. Your account and conduct

Keep your device and account access secure. Use Bobi lawfully and respect other people. Do not impersonate others, harass, threaten, exploit children, share illegal or non-consensual material, infringe intellectual property, publish someone else's private information, spam, or attempt to bypass security or usage limits. You must have permission to upload or share content involving other people.

3. Your content and community safety

You retain your rights to your content and give Bobi permission to store, process and display it as needed to provide the features you use. Public posts and profile content may be seen or copied by others. Private chat is intended for its participants; it is not advertised as end-to-end encrypted. Use the available report and block controls for unwanted conduct. Bobi may restrict content or access to address abuse, security issues or legal obligations.

4. Travel and AI guidance

Community content and AI responses may be inaccurate, incomplete or outdated. Independently check current entry rules, weather, transport, prices and local safety advice. Use qualified professionals or emergency services when appropriate. When enabled, the optional AI Guide uses Groq after your permission for each request, as described in the Privacy Policy. Do not include sensitive information or information you lack permission to share. Answers are guidance, not a booking, guarantee or professional advice. Availability and request allowances may vary.

5. Gifts and service availability

Daily virtual gifts are free community features. They are not purchased with money, have no cash value and cannot be redeemed for money. Bobi may change, interrupt or discontinue features, and may suspend access for misuse. You can stop using Bobi at any time. Nothing in these terms excludes rights or remedies that applicable law does not allow us to exclude.

6. Updates and contact

Material changes will be reflected in an updated effective date and made available with the service. Proposed contact: support@bobi.com (not yet active). Do not rely on this address for urgent help. Use available in-app report and block controls for community safety concerns.